THE WORD IS OUT...

INTRODUCTION

Over majestic jagged mountains, beyond rolling blue waves, across barren desert vistas and fertile plains, people from every corner of the world knew. For THE WORD IS OUT! Cheering Marauders decided it was time to inform the world of their success and pride, proclaiming this simple yet direct message: MMHS IS JUST TOO MUCH!

With an abundance of organizations, activities and so many opportunities to get involved, no one could complain of boredom. And sports dominated the scene with championship teams. The student population mushroomed to over 3500 students, but instead of a hindrance, the large number of students served as an opportunity to make more friends and to greet more smiling faces.

Volume eleven of The Mirada chronicles the year's many events and serves to keep alive our precious high school memories. Read on and discover for yourself that in all aspects Mira Mesa High was JUST TOO MUCH!

The much-envied location of Mira Mesa offers close proximity to nearly all major attractions, yet is detached enough from the city to escape the undesirables of a metropolitan area. Beaches are just a short drive away, and major shopping centers are within minutes. All the offerings of "America's Finest City," combined with Mira Mesa's prime location led students to proclaim that: Mira Mesa High is JUST TOO MUCH!

word was Marauders were heading in one direction. Students flocked onto campus to experience the overabundent fun and spirit. It wasn't hard to show off their spirit with many activities around the campus. Football games gave everyone a chance to unleash bottled up emotions and to show off their school pride. Win or lose the Marauders were just too much. All in all, the spirit of MMH exploded and Spint Was just too fun!

hen it came to student life this year, Marauders found out quickly that MMHS had "Just too much" to offer. Students here kept incredibly busy, participating in athletics, political organizations and other clubs, the band, the newspaper and yearbook staff, or any one of countless available activities. Marauders also found time in busy schedules for special school events, such as football games, dances, pep rallies, and spirit week. remainder of most students' waking hours were usually devoted to going out with friends, or just bummin' around. And on the rare occasion with nothing exciting to do. there was always the ever present homework crying out to be completed. Throughout the year, Marauders were not ones to pass up a good time, and the many exciting activities available reflect this singleminded dedication to fun.

Trick-or-Treat!

dark fog settled over Mira Mesa High on Halloween as hordes of gobins, witches, and other creatures of the night descended upon th unsuspecting campus. Bloodcurdling screams echoed throughout the school grounds as slimy ghouls snatched up unlucky freshmen who were never seen again. Mira Mesa High School, once filled with happy Marauders, was now a playground for spiders, spooks, and spectres.

Actually. Halloween this year was quite different than this. The school was filled with cheerful, smiling faces as students and staff alike showed their spirit by displaying costumes. Along with the traditional scary costumes, a variety of other outfits could be seen, ranging anywhere from belivdancers to slices of pizza. Once the sun went down Marauders set out in search of a frightfully good time. Some joined in on the festivities at the Homecoming game, and cheered our team to victory. Others, desiring a spookier All Hallow's Eve, visited one of the Haunted Houses in the area. Costume parties were also a popular destination for students. And there was always the traditional trick-or-treating, which provided both fun and a truly monstrous feast of goodies th the large student body at MMHS, everyone had an enormous variety of friends. While making new friends was a goal, old friendships stood the test of time. Many have come through the years as close and intimate friends while others, purely by chance form lasting relationships on the spur of the moment When times were tough friends provided shoulders to cry on and someone to talk to. No matter what the situation was, true buddies were always there to lend a helping hand, relay good advice, and just have fun. The bond of love and caring strengthened with time Marauders said that they could accomplish anything "Just as long as you stand by me "

WHERE THE

Chic, hot, live, raging, tota-ly cool! These are only a few of the words used to describe the sizzling trends and bumming fashions of the 1986-87 year. From the month of September to the month of June, Marauders put a dent in the fashion industry by creating their own styles with true blue individuality.

The word out this year was QUALITY. Trendsetters arrived on the scene in the latest fashion wear which might have consisted of the original Benelton sweater, colorful Esprit pants, Guess jeanwear, Gueci handbags, and Swatch watches piled on arms, ankles, and even in hairstyles.

What turns the average person into 'the' fashion statement of the 80's? What else but...fashion accessories. Big bangles, tiny charms, big face watches, western style baubles, clunky chunky gold chains, au faux pearls, and for those who are doing all right and getting good grades, the future's so bright, you've got to wear shades! Oooo la la, look out rubber band, seems that you have been outstretched by the hottest hair accessory around ... the big bow. Made to accentuate any and every outfit, the bows added a touch of style and class to everyone's doo.

Baby on board, surfer on board, party animal on board, I'm bored, mother-in-law in trunk, and illegal alien in trunk were plastered on car window after car window. These yellow signs proved to be hazardous to the health of drivers and pedestrians because of the attention they received.

"Oh! is that so? . . . Well, YOU'VE got a big MOUTH!"

Jungle wear (Banana Republic) drove today's Tarzan and Jane bananas with the enormous amount of safari and tropical wear. Create the total sporty look or just kick back in tennies, sweets, hats, and socks from Adidas and Fila. These were no longer only "typed" for the jock jockette.

Look out cows, leather apparel is on the loose? Hand bags skirts, shoes, pants, lackets, everything has leatherized, despite moos of protest.

Yes you can drink your beer and wear it too. Corona Tshirts, tank tops, and sweatshirts were the letest rage from Mexico. Banned at a few high schools, Marauders took the pleasure of living in them. Speaking of beer ... this Spuds for you. It seems that that lady killer, party enimal Spuds Mackenzie has been frollicking around in bud commercials. Is he a beast or a ladies man? Well one things for sure, he is definitely a dog.

Crack kills! This mindwrecking drug was constantly in the news. The dangerous drug, a cheap form of cocaine, not only killed, but the use, ruined lives of those involved with them. This and all other illegal and misused drugs were, and still are, definitely uncoolf

There were many 'crazay' and wild occurrences not mentioned above, but unfortunately this copy has to end. So stay cool and don't be a fool. Do what you want to do, reach for the highest star but don't get bummed, and above all HAVE A BLAST!

night time, dance time, club time, fun time, all the time! During the weekends Marauders danced their feet off from Escondido (After Dark) and Distillery to East County (Strattus). For the adventurous and daring, 18 year olds ventured south to the world famous Oh's Laser Club.

With gracefulness and enthusiasm, Mr. Jim Vlassis flawlessly led the students and faculty to yet another memorable year. As principal, he claims that he "Is responsible for everything, and does everything." However, the general feeling is that this is an overstatement and although Mr. Vlassis plays an important role, the complex drama of the school administration requires the efforts of many people

Four vice-principals performed a wide variety of jobs. Incumbent VP's Barbara Wells, Otis Funches, and Gus Bolden, along with newcomer John Miranda, were responsible for evaluating teachers' performance as well as acting as a liason between department heads and the administration

A dedicated group of nine counselors shared the responsibility of guiding students through high school. As always, they helped students get into college, or get a diploma, or get a clue about life his is the land of confusion. A land filled with immense student demands, conflicts with schedules and enormous amounts of paper work. Handling this was no ordinary job for ordinary people. These headed tasks were amazingly conquered by the super counseling staff of of MMHS consisting of head counselor. Cindy Shidecor, eight other counselors, a district counselor, career counselor, registrar secretary guidance cierk and a guidance a del Together they assisted Marauders with academic and career decisions, and personal and social problems. They provided information on do eges and universities, trade/vocational schools financial aid and scholarships. The staff also assisted teachers to balance and solve discipline problems. They communicated with parents about school and they worked with the administration regarding student placement. Even with the over populated student body here on campus the counselors managed to give personal attention to each and everyone. Only the best would do here at MMHS and the super counseling staff definitely fit the mold!

he robed priest stood atop the majestic pyramid, and slowly lowered the mummified body of the king into his dark tomb. Elsewhere, armored knights engaged in fierce battle within a gloomy Medieval Castle. And at yet another time and place brave pioneers rode in their covered wagons along the winding, dusty Oregon trail. These are but a few of the scenes that could be found within the classrooms of the Social Science Department, Whether it be to ancient Egypt, Europe in the Dark Age, or America's pioneer days, social studies teachers were able to transport students back in time to experience history. Valiently led by Mr. Ted Parent, this hardy band of teachers struggled throughout the year to delve deep into the past with their students. learning all about the long, rich history of mankind. The social studies department, one of the largest in the school, had an incredibly broad range of subjects, and sometimes could be found to satisfy anyones historical cumousity

The classrooms of the social studies department dealt with not only the past, but the present as well. In Government classes, students learned of the intricate workings of American Democracy, while Political Science courses stressed a comparitive approach to the study of foreign governments. The teachers were responsible for the success of the department, as they avoided presenting history as a dry, boring list of names and dates, and instead breathed new life into the subject, creating exciting, realistic and memorable historical tales. Having a good department is essential for a highschool. History is perhaps, the most important subject in school, since, according to Robert Durham, "All we can ever know is history."

In the fitful light of the bunsen Jumer, a strange and sens group of figures could be seen clustered about a table. Cackling with hideous, insane glee, the group worked feverishly on some unseen. probably diabolical project. Who were these mysterious creatures? Evil experimenters attempting to create strange new monsters? Witches and warfocks summoning terrible creatures of the night? Horrifying alien beasts performing disgusting experiments on earth life forms?--No, it was worse then this. These horrible demented individuals were (gaspl) science teachers testing a new lab to use with their ciasses.

All over the campus the science teachers, involved in subjects such as chemistry, biology, physics, and physiology, made great progress in their goal of creating a scientifically educated and capable student body

While the teachers of this department were perhaps not as insane and demented as those in the above paragraph, they were just as excited and energetic in conveying their knowledge of, and love for, science to their pupils. To raise funds for new and improved equipment and lab supplies, as well as field trips, the department successfully conducted candy and poinsettia plant sales. scientifically oriented students, who wished to pursue their interest outside of the classroom, a number of clubs were available, including the biology and environmental science club. Along with teaching pupils to deal with and relate to test tubes and calculators, science teachers helped students deal with people as well, thus accomplishing their goal of "helping students understand the relationship of science to society."

Driving Force

"C eniors are here to rule the school." Even with the overcrowded population of more than 3,500. Seniors stood out among the crowd. It wasn't hard to tell who the class of '87 was. They approached life with an over abundance of animated spirit. three years of anticipation and waiting, celebration burst out in a frenzy of excitement and elation. Anxiety filled minds as seniors shook in fear over the unknown zone--their future. Minds were stretched to the limit as students hurried to fill out college applications, sign up for the draft, and plan their lives. Senioritis set in and snoozing in class, daydreaming, and hypnotic trances diminished studying. By the end of the year seniors snapped out of their daze and began to prepare for the prom and graduation. As Seniors approached adulthood, memories of school, friends, and childhood faded away as visions of maturity and a bright future took over.

he day of the bag ledy." This is the way Marauders now refer to the fateful day in October when our once proud campus was overrun with hordes of parishly clad scavengers. * As a part of Spirit Week, the A.S.B. invited these "bag people" to our school, an invitation that they readily accepted. I Ignoring all rules of fashion, these scavengers wore clothing that even Good Will would reject, and created nightmerish combinations of colors, patterns, febrics. Although normally reserved, at funch the and an experience to the a frentied

Meet Dick and Jane. They are juniors. Dick and Jane are having fun, fun, fun. It's neat being sixteen. See Dick drive a car, he got his license yesterday. Can you say yesterday? Dick is happy because he can take Jane cruising and he can drive down to TJ. Don't get caught speeding Dick!

Look Look See Jane, Jane is taking the PSAT. Jane is sweating. Il hope her Lady Speedstick is working.1 Jane must practice for the SAT. Jane is scared, Jane knows that if she does not do well, all hopes for college acceptance go bye-bye. (Better load up on the underarm deoderant.)

Being a junior is wild, wild, wild. Everyone knows that the Class of 88 is the wildest class at MMHS. Dick and Jane are proud to be juniors. Only one more year and then...Senioritis!

only two years away, the junior class spent many hours planning activities and fundraisers. The major goal for the school year was to get as many juniors involved as possible. Some other goals consisted of raising as much money as possible for their senior year and to obtain many spirit points in lunchtime competitions against other classes. The juniors held fundraisers, sponsered dances, and sold class-related items to strengthen and enrich their class flow. With the overwhelming proceed. he junior year is of crucial importance for those seeking a college education after high school. Thay are pressured to get good grades and score high on the PSAT and SAT. Many colleges consider only the grades received in 10th and 11th grades, so colleges encourage juniors to put extra effort into their classes. The PSAT, basically a preview of the SAT, is taken by juniors in October. The PSAT can be instrumental in the acquisition of scholarships. especially the National Ment Scholarships. The all important SAT a grueling, mentallydevastating test of a student's innate intelligence is confronted by juniors late in the school year. Of decisive importance, the SAT marked the end of a year of preparation for college. The academic performance of juniors could either pave the road to success, or sidetrack them to a dismal life of emptiness and es I'm a junior and I'm cool Thave a car and I can do anything, go anywhere, and never come home if I don't want to. My parents don't even recognize me now that I've got this can It's a clunker, but that's ok. I have so much freedom! Where should I go next? I think maybe I'll drive to, uhh ... China. Yeah, that's the ticket! Oh no! My tank is almost empty! There's the Mickey Mouse Gas Station up ahead It's a good thing I get 300 miles per gallon. I wonder if I'll even go to school again. No, I'll just keep driving around, taking advantage of my newfound freedom and privacy. No one knows what I do with my car, except, uh Morgan Fairchild, yeah. That's it, I feel ike I'm in a cartoon-like world of makebelieve, with big animals and pink polka-dotted roads. Someday I'll go home though, because I have to feed my dog

ello, we are here today to talk to the marvelous tenth graders, otherwise known as the "sophomores". Yes darling, these wonderful fifteen year old human beings do exist. Eager to put their embarrassing experiences of their freshmen year behind them, the sophomore class tackled their second year of high school with a new drive on life. This was the last year to kick back and relax before the anxiety of harder school work. The P.S.A.T. and S.A.T. test preparation for college entrance would punch them in the nose during their junior and senior years. While many sophomores "bummed" off rides for their transportation, a majority went through the strange ritual of obtaining driver's permits, and torturing parents and DMV employees by displaying their newly acquired road skills. in all, the sophomore year proved to be the entrance to the marvelous life, of life in the "fast" lane.

situations. Freshmen are used to having mom chauffer them around, while upperclassmen can drive themselves. So those men in dark suits who make the rules decided that kids needed a few months where they could drive their parents around and show them what they learned in driver's ed Hence the invention of the driver's permit. Students are free to drive with a permit, provided that a parent is attentively monitoring the actions of the new driver. While the experience may be fun for the new driver, it is often mentally traumatic for the parent Cardiac arrests are common among the parents of permit owners, so many have installed EKGs in the passenger seat. After enduring around ten hours of this "instruction", the parent (now undergoing psychological therapy) hears the child's plea for a license, and, after analyzing his own pitiful condition. succumbs and allows the child to take the driving test, which he fails anywey At this point, the parent (now experiencing suicidal tendencies) gives up all hope. Of course, in the end, the child does receive his license and is able to drive his parents to and from the Institution for Mental Disorders.

Sophomore days were filled to the brim with fundraisers, dances, pep railes, sporting events, club meetings, and other school activities. For many tenth graders, this was the first time that they turned off "He-Man" and "The Jetsons" and turned on to the "SPIRIT" channel

This was the year of many firsts, due to the fact that last year (when the sophs were mere freshmen), participation in activities was practically nil. Now with the ongoing antics of the upperclassmen and the various soph, leaders, the Class of '89 jumped onto the roller coaster of fun. Never before has a class at MMHS been so anxious to let off steam (oh), hot!)

"Buy your sweatshirt here!" The Class of 89 went all out to raise cash for their senior year. There were not dog, candy, tee-shirt, sweat shirt, and Marauder pen sales Nothing was held back! Sophomores gave the word "SPIRIT" new meaning as they did what came naturally to them. HAD FUN!

different about me? NO MORE BRACES!

No more brushing after every meal (not that I did, but don't tell my morn that). No more worrying about embarassing traces of food stuck under a wire. No more monthly visits to my orthodonist, Dr. Ouch (he has bad breath) who always tightens my braces a little too much. And most importantly, NO MORE TEASING! Now I can eat anything legally: popcorn, gum, caramel, ice, and apples. I can smile, knowing that I won't blind anyone with my metallic grin. The only thing I have to get used to is how slimy and naked my teath feel. How come I didn't notice this two and a half years ago?

Now living with the retainer, which feels like hardened peanut butter. I'm collecting a full day's worth of spit. Well, I gotte go floss. (Brought to you by a senior, still wearing brack who likes to B S I and never been kissed? Becoming sixteen is a major turning point in anyone's life. For sophomores, the sixteenth year means an end to being an innocent and haive fifteen year old and a step toward the pleasures of the freedom experienced in adulthood. After grueling ordeals at the DMV, sweaty paims were dried and readied for grasping a driver's icense, and sophomores no longer had to beg parents and friends for rides to school, the beach, and hot spots. Begging for a car followed, and once the automobile was purchased, sixteen year olds soon disappeared

Being sixteen opened up doors to employment. Sophomores were no longer satisfied with weekly allowances or baby-sitting jobs. Many searched "help wanted" ads and combed through shopping centers, looking for minimum wage jobs at fast food places. Some sixteen year olds were finally allowed to go out on real dates with members of the opposite sex, but unfortunately, parents were still strict with curfews.

Loaded with brailings, roses, and a birthday rake, Michele Richardson festively beams at limitly reaching " \sim ot 16"

FRESH

I was a dark and gloomy first day of school. Suddenly, the clouds parted and a brilliant light shone down from the heavens. Amidst a chorus of joyous voices from the sky the Class of 1990, the "Class of a New Decade", entered the school. The other students crowded happily around the freshmen, eager to welcome and befriend these wonderful new people.

Actually, the freshmen began school in a more normal way. It was an exciting time, a time of new faces and new beginnings, but there were no "heavenly" lights or voices. As ninth graders soon found out, being a "freshman" was not an easy job. One had to face the indifference and contempt of upperclassmen, all the while attempting to adjust to the rigors of high school life, and more importantly, to "fit in". It was truly a giant step from junior high to high school, but most freshmen are glad that they took it, and look forward to enjoying many fun, memorable years at MMHS.

aced with the monstrous task of raising enough money for class activities, (and eventually the Senior Prom etc...) the Freshmen are often too overcome with terror to accomplish anything. Not so with the Class of 1990 class council Led by president Roy Jazmin and advisor Shirley Duchock, the Freshmen council sponsored a number of financially successful fundraisers, including candy bar, sucker, and sweatshirt sales, as well as "Goodbye Grams". ke, mom, donkey, car. Which of the aforementioned types of ransportation does not belong to a freshman? Take some time to think about it. (Pretend you hear the music from "Jeopardy") Times up That's right--you guessed it! The car. If you guessed donkey, that's incorrect because donkeys are available to freshmen in certain third-world countries.) Freshmen do not drive cars They never have. They never will Consider the following scenario You're driving to school in a near downpour. Windshield wipers at full speed are nearly useless as the rain pelts your windshield. The windows fog up, so you crack your window open. a flurry of wild rain streams into your car. Quickly you roll it back up. Off in the distance you can barely distinguish a moving figure amidst the dark reinfall You recognize a bicycle, which leads you to conclude that it is a freshman. He has no parents, no friends, no adequate means of transportation. Only a bicycle. He is the embodiment of Pee-Wee Harman. He is only one of the many freshmen who rely on the bicycle for transportation. You may notice him pedaling to school in the early morning rain. He has a brown stripe of mud running up his back. He is wet. He is alone. He is very unhappy et off the phone. Please help my child! She is a freshman at Mira Mesa. High School who is addicted to the telephone. It has gotten so bad that AT&T has become her best friend. At first, she did push button once in a while, but Pacific Bell introduced cordless phones with radios, a threeway talking system, and an answering machine. She hasn't been normal since. When she gets home from school, she abandons her homework and heads for the talking machine. I can no longer sleep at night knowing that she's still on the phone gossiping about clothes, friends, and heaven forbid boys! Please help this freshman before it's too late! "Might as well face igantic metallic balloons sporting Garfield logos odey godey chocolaty chip cookies, fudgy yummy cakes with fourteen candles, fragrant bouquets of flowers, huggable teddy bears, and Mickey Mouse party hats. Birthdays were celebrated in grand splendor at Mira Mesa High. The campus resembled one gigantic party with tremendous B-day decor For freshmen, birthdays were extra special because they had finally graduated from being pesky adolescent preteens, to mature and sophiscated teenagers. Being fourteen meant that childhood was far behind, and adulthood was at reach. For many of the frosh going out in style meant celebrating with pizazz and a growing hunger for maturity Unfortunately birthdays were only once a year but plans were a ready being dreamed up for the big "15". Who knows maybe the Goodyear Blimp can be rented but?

"Seventh graders" over there??" asked residents along the east side of Parkdale as they viewed the site of Challenger Junior High destined to open in September, '87 ear-round???? was the question of the day in December when Ed Center head honchos decided that Mira Mesa High School is just too crowded. "It will go year-round in 1988," they answered. John Miranda was transferred from Bell Junior High to become vice-principal in charge of computer processing and program development.

"What?...No freshmen?" became the question at midyear as Ed Center head honchos decided that the ninth graders will be located elsewhere. The MARQUEE answered our questions in its lead story of March 27th Both students and staff expressed their opinions

Besides losing the ninth graders, 35 teachers were declared in excess. A though the actual loss will not be known until school opens in September 1987, the questions of who will actually be assigned elsewhere and what courses will be dropped was on everyone's mind. Disheartened, many staff persons felt helpless to change the course of events. Long time friendships among co leagues would become something to cherish in memory.

Site seniority is not the name of the game where staff assignments are made on the basis of teacher-student ratios. DiSTRICT SENIORITY is the name of the game in capital letters. So the most disheartened staff persons were probably those who had opened the school in September 1976 when it was called Mira Mesa Junior-Senior Frigh School. Included in the list are six of the original faculty and staff persons. Ed Alien, Richard Clem, Lynn De Paul, Larry Eliot, Christy McMahon, and Ann. Norman. AWESOME

Attention all you Marauder fans! Where do you go when you want to find excitement, fun, determination, strength. spirit, and victory? Join the crowd of Marauder athletes who showed their Dizazz in various sports. The fall, winter, and spring sports were successful in league play. Many sports teams such as Varsity Football, Girls Tennis, JV and Varsity Field Hockey proved to be just too awesome when it came to winning. Many teams reached the CIF playoffs and won their division in the Eastern League. The athletes put all their strength into their sport and many weren't afraid to give it everything they had.

Both fans and players alike were proud of the hot athletic teams. Massive Trophies piled up as MMHS participated in sport after sport. With the overpopulation on campus, coaches did not have any problems finding capable and dazzling athletes for every sport from A to Z. Other high schools in San Diego County would soon learn about the drive of Marauders. Marauder teams weren't afraid to show off their blue and gold and prove that they were just too tough!

7 Jeff Fanno and John Farrel show the observers what running is all about

Juff, puff, inhale, right, left, right, left, I want to stop, I have to keep going. I can't stop, only 37 miles to go, inhale, exhale, got a cramp, I have to stop, I can't stop, lod, plod, incredible pain, huff, puff, almost done, left, right, finally done. This,

Marauders, is the essence of cross-country

Why do they run? The whole thing seems so pointless-at the end of a run, they always end up where they began, and basically have gone nowhere. The substance of that enigmatic drive can only be defined in the minds of the fifty members of the Boys' Cross Country team Coached by Mr. Dennis Lottermoser, the team finished second in them league behind CIF winner Serra, prompting senior Steve Bramson to declare, "We have nothing to be ashamed of "The team this year was very young, possessing only three returning seniors: Steve Bramson, Grant Moseley, and Brock Treptow. As a result of grueling daily road runs of as much as ten miles, the team placed well n ali three major invitationals Coach Lottermoser anticipates a successful season next year, with promising prospects such as Cesar Duke and Junior Vic Moharin his year's JV Girt's ✓ Volleyball Team showed dramatic improvement over last year's squad, rising to forth place in the Eastern Legue. Coach Carol Stowe skillfully dolled the girls in all aspects of the game, creating a unified team. which played well together. According to Coach Stowe, the 14 member team was the tallest and most aggressive in many years. Featuring the talent of sophomores Heather Berner, Kiko Rataj, Debbie Minihane. and Grace Bolano, the team worked its way to a respectable 9-6 overall record. Says Coach Stowe of the team, "They dominated the net with their blocking and hitting. If anything did get through, the fisty, quick back row was there to cover. We will have a lot of depth and experience returning next year " pistol the tanned, muscular swimmer was instantly in motion, skillfully executing a perfect starting dive and smoothy entering the cool blue water. Stroking powerfully toward the finish, the athlete soon outdistanced his opponents and won the race.

This victorious scene promises to be quite common for the MMHS Swim Team, as both the Boy's and Girl's teams appear to be the strongest in years. The coaching skills of Head Coach Dick Clem and assistant coaches Chris Gibson and Charlene Payne. combined with the hard work and dedication of the swimmers has created a wellrounded team of strong, fast, and enduring swimmers, able to compete and win in all events. The boy's team was greatly strengthened by the addition of several speedy underclassmen. including Mike Kolarov, Jeff Snow, and Bobby Gabrielson, who complemented the returners, Carl Ervin, Jeff Lewis, and Hooch Scherl. The Girl's team standout swimmers include Jenn McElliott, Tami Selbrede, and Cindy Hallock, all fast versatile athletes. Perhaps the most valuable addition to the team is freshman Mike Picotte, a phenomenal swimmer who has already broken a majority of school records. The team practiced long and hard all year to reach their goal of an Eastern League title, putting in countless hours of swimming as well as daily early-morning. weightlifting sessions. result of all of this work and dedication was the creation of a magnificent team of "lean," mean, swimming machines" that struck fear into the hearts. of all opponents. the mighty, Marauder swim team led by cocaptains Jenn McElliott, and Dave Geary, was a spirited bunch of athletes, devoted to the sport and willing to put in the extra-effort needed to be champions. The path to the championship would not be an easy one, but the swimmers were confident. As Jeff Snow out it, "Anyone who swims against us is a dead puppy!"

A s Bill rode his BICYCLE up the hill, he tried very hard to keep his RADIO, SPANISH dictionary, and VARSITY letter jacket from spilling out of his BACK-PACK. When he successfully reached the top, he was so happy that he let out a big CHEEA. Sadly, Bill then rolled back down the hill, and was hit by a car. Unhurt, Bill sued the driver in a MOCK TRIAL, and was awarded &1 million in damages. Bill wrote of his story in the MARQUEE. and also acted it out in DRAMA. A movie of his life was made in T.V. PROD-UCTIONS, and Bill became even richer than before.

Quite clearly, Bill was an active student. belonged to 10 clubs and organizations which filled his life completely, leaving no time for eating and sleeping. Yet even Bill could not participate in all of the organizations of MMHS, for there were just too many! Whether you liked to see a planet, speak a speech, hike around, wave a flag, yell a cheer, or debate an issue, Mira Mesa had the club for you. Literally thousands of clubs could be found on the campus, giving students a wide variety to choose from. Whatever students participated in, it was clear that one goal stood clear in their minds-a good time. Organizations proved to be some of the most enjoyable aspects of the school year, and served to make school a little more interesting, and a lot more fun.

edication, determination, and the desire to be leaders were the qualities that made up the 1986-87 ASB With the supervision of advisor Kim Coody, ASB worked hard during the summer and the school year planning and carrying out fun and exciting activities involving the entire Student body President Judy Mercado, elected, and appointed officers, strived toward the goal of making Mira Mesa High School the most spirited high school in San Diego. Student participation in fundraisers, Homecoming, the ASB Ball, lunch-time activities, and spirit week made the ASB huge successes, due to their hard work. The ASB budget grew steadily throughout the year with money from the Student Store, Cake machines dances, ASB card sales, accounts, locks for lockers, and a small percentage of GATE money for football and basketball games. The ASB worked hard to make sure that MMHS was the best in the West

A Time To Say Farewell

On the beginning, a shimmering light appeared upon the desolate canyon of Mira Mesa. From this light, a highschool emerged, destined to be filled with warm bodies. Years flew by, freshmen entered through the doorway of education, while seniors exited through the golden arches of graduation. Throughout the years the school's population built up steadily until 1986-87 when BOOM, an immense overload of Marauders dropped from the sky on to the unsuspecting campus. They came from all over the world to create the Marauder melting pot.

From the start Marauders knew how to have fun. For those interested in sports, cheering, for football, basketball, and many other sports proved to be pleasing. At games, Marauders got the chance to express true blue and gold spirit, and zaniness while rooting for Marauder teams.

Just can't get enough! For students who wanted to show off sizzling moves, engage with members of the opposite sex, and dress to kill, dances like Homecoming, ASB Ball, and Sadie Hawkins made evenings romantic and fun.

Who has spirit? Freshmen, Juniors Sophomores, and Seniors battled it out in lunch-time activities to gain spirit points and respect. With dress up days, contests, and exciting activities, Marauders didn't have to search very far to find spirit.

With the departure of around 750 seniors, no freshmen class next year, and around 30 teachers leaving, MMHS will no longer be cram-packed and overcrowded.

This is not good bye, this is hello. Hello to new friends, hello to good and fun times, and hello to a fresh future. No one will ever forget you Mighty Marauders. YOU'RE JUST TOO MUCH

As the end of the year approaches, these students say bye to Mira. Mesa High

To all our friends-Goodbye, We'll miss you!

You Learn

After a while you learn the subtle difference between holding a hand and chaining a soul,

And you learn that love doesn't mean leaning and company doesn't mean security,

And you begin to learn that kisses aren't contracts and presents aren't promises,

And you begin to accept your defeats with your head up and your eyes open, with the grace of a woman, not the gruef of a child.

And you learn to build your roads on today because tomorrow's ground is too uncertain for plans, and futures have a way of falling in mid-flight.

After a while you learn that even sunshine can burn if you get too much, so you plant your own garden and decorate your own soil instead of waiting for someone to bring you flowers. And you learn that you really can endure... That you really are strong and you really do have worth... And you learn and you learn, with every good-bye you learn.

In memory of Justin LeVeau
